

SAVE THE DATE

1. International Nissen Symposium
Basel, Switzerland
27. – 28. August 2020

Topic: Upper GI Tract

Please save the date for the 1. International Nissen Symposium.

1. International Nissen Symposium

Basel, Switzerland

27. – 28. August 2020

Topic: Upper GI Tract – Controversial Issues

The Nissen Symposium is named after Rudolph Nissen (1896 – 1981), head of the department of surgery at the University of Basel from 1952 to 1967, who made seminal contributions to surgery.

The 1. International Nissen Symposium will address hot topics and controversies in the management of upper GI disorders.

Further information will follow. Please register at www.clarunis.ch to be included in a mailing list if you are interested to obtain updates.

- esophageal and gastric cancer – which oncologic, endoscopic and surgical approach?
- reflux – which kind of medication, duration, risks during longterm therapy
- reflux – only in cases of hernia, endoscopic approaches, surgery alone?, interventional concepts
- Barrett – the procedure 2020
- bariatric / metabolic surgery – consequences and reflux
- worst cases and recurrent cases